SCA Fine Arts Drama class will be performing "She Has a Name". This play is inspired by an event in April of 2008 in which an abandoned storage container was found in Thailand containing 121 workers from Burma, 54 of them dead, Andrew Kooman's She Has a Name dramatically gives human trafficking a face.

Andrew Kooman will be attending at least one performance and will host a "TALK BACK" discussion and engage with the audience. Check scafinearts.com for more information.

For every $1000, one sexually exploited child can be rescued/assisted. We are partnering with Sherwood Park Alliance Church and International Justice Mission (IJM).

Who is IJM? IJM is a human rights organization that brings immediate relief to victims of sexual exploitation, slavery and violent oppression, partnership with U.S.-based International Justice Mission. A multi-national team of lawyers and law enforcement professionals conduct criminal investigations and collect evidence to relieve victims and bring perpetrators to justice, and IJM social workers secure appropriate aftercare for victims of abuse.
